Dear Readers,

Regards to all,

It is a great privilege to get this opportunity to be the part of RTMNU Law Journal as a chief editor and present my thoughts at this platform. It was a great experience working under the guidance of a distinguished advisory board members.

I am grateful for their support. I extend my heartfelt gratitude to the entire editorial team and students' coordinators for their dedicated time and efforts in bringing this journal as a worthy content useful for promoting further research. Their support, patience during the editorial process made the entire experience smoother and rewarding.

A special mention to all the reviewers without whom the expected academic standards for the journal would not have achieved. Their critical insights have made all the authors to rethink on every minute aspect of their research paper and straining even small bits before putting it in paper. They have not only helped us gain a refined work but also ensured a quality product by bringing about significant changes wherever required. I am also grateful to all the talented authors for their esteemed contributions in the diverse subjects and for sharing their knowledge and elevating the journal's content.

Through RTMNU Law Journal, I have made an honest attempt to achieve the objective of fostering interdisciplinary dialogue and research within the young scholars and researchers, making it a pioneering space for the exchange of ideas that impact both law and society. I ensure, that RTMNU Law Journal will always thrive for producing best research which will have the contemporary relevance in legal studies and will be useful for the society at large.
